

UNAVOIDABLE ACCIDENT

CORONER'S JURY SO FINDS AT SITTING OVER BODY OF WILLIAM McPHERSON

The verdict of the coroner's jury which met Tuesday afternoon to hear evidence on the causes of the accident in which an automobile containing movie actors of the National Film Company was struck by a Southern Pacific train on the outskirts of Glendale, was to the effect that William McPherson, killed in the collision, was the victim of "an unavoidable accident." J. E. Pettit, O. W. Tarr, Hiram Clutter, George Paine, O. C. Lane, Sr., and Norman Otis composed the jury, which declared to Coroner Williams, who conducted the inquiry, that it did not feel justified in charging any one with blame for the accident.

The list of witnesses examined included Messrs. Harr and Shirley, who were passengers in the ill-fated automobile, and several members of the train crew—Engineer Orin C. Shown, of 365 South Hancock St., Los Angeles; Fireman McKenzie of 2611 Vallejo St., Los Angeles; Brakeman J. D. Huddle of 781 Forty-first Street, Los Angeles, and Michael Sylvia of 813 West Doran Street, an employee of the Midway Gas Company.

Messrs. Harr and Shirley testified that they did not see nor hear the approach of the train.

Sylvia testified that he was at home working in his garden about 200 yards east of the point of the accident; that on straightening up from his work he looked down the road and saw two machines and wondered what they were doing, saw the machine in question start to turn onto the crossing, saw the train coming and wondered if the auto would make the crossing, then heard the crash and ran to render what aid he could. To facilitate the work of removing the victims of the ac-

NEW WATER RATES

The new water rates for the City of Glendale which went into effect Monday, March 1, make the burden less for the small consumer, as the minimum has been reduced to $1 for 700 cubic feet. The former rate was $1.25. A charge of five cents a hundred cubic feet for additional amounts used, up to 10,000 cubic feet, will be made, and three cents per 100 cubic feet for all over 10,700 feet used. This is for water served through a 5-8 by 3-4 inch meter. For a one-inch meter, including 700 cubic feet of water, the minimum monthly charge shall be $1.25, for a one and a half-inch meter $1.50 per month, two-inch $2 and three-inch $3.

FOURTEEN PERMITS—$36,250 IN BUILDINGS

Fourteen building permits calling for an aggregate expenditure of $36,250 was yesterday's record. Among these were nine, each calling for the erection of a four-room bungalow, the whole to comprise a white bungalow court on the two lots at 637 and 641 North Orange. A garage to hold six machines will be built later as a part of the improvement, for which the permit will be taken out later. T. C. Young and A. L. Baird are the owners and Kent & Sop the contractors.

A THRILLING RIDE

D. RIPLEY JACKSON AND PARTY HAVE PERILOUS EXPERIENCES ON SANTA SUSANA PASS

Mr. and Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson, their son, daughter and house guest, had a nerve-racking experience in the course of a week-end trip to Santa Barbara. Rain interfered with the sightseeing program they had laid out, and because the State Highway was out of commission they adopted the suggestion that they return by way of the Santa Susana pass. It is a dirt road with a steep descent and a sheer drop on one side. Rain had made it slippery as grease and there was not a foot of the three-mile course that was free from hazard. Kenneth Jackson walked the entire distance spying out the way and advising his father, who was at the wheel. Mrs. Jackson says she has had a good many thrills and narrow escapes in the course of her auto travels but nothing for sustained peril that equaled this. She has not recovered her poise yet, she declares, and Mr. Jackson is not enthusiastic about repeating the experience.

REDLANDS UNIVERSITY

MATTISON B. JONES SPENDS WEEK-END LOOKING AFTER ITS BUSINESS AFFAIRS

Mattison B. Jones of this city, who is president of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist University at Redlands and chairman of its building committee, was obliged to spend the week-end in Redlands looking after business affairs of the university and was accompanied by Mrs. Jones. They had a fine visit with their daughter, Miss Winifred Jones, whom they found very well and enjoying her work in the university.

It was an especially pleasant occasion for Mr. Jones who is realizing the fruition of years of effort in the prosperity of the institution now on its feet financially after a long struggle with poverty. Of the returns from the recent Baptist educational campaign, $1,142,000 has been given to the university of which $650,000 will be used for endowment purposes, the balance for buildings. Two of these are now nearing completion, viz: a new boys' dormitory costing $65,000, and a Science Hall costing $125,000. A prominent woman who is interested in the institution and who refuses to be known in the matter has donated funds to build and completely furnish and equip a new dormitory for girls, which will be started at once. Another projected building is a fine arts structure which will contain an auditorium capable of seating 15,000 persons and a pipe organ which will cost $150,000. The university has a campus of fifty acres and is developing into a big institution.

FIRE AT WARREN STORY'S

An alarm of fire sent engines 1 and 3 hurrying to Warren Story's large residence at 640 West Broadway, where a fire burning out was sending flames high in the air. The bricks soon became heated through and would have soon fired the roof and caused the destruction of the building had not the firemen begun throwing water very quickly. The nearest fire plug was at the corner of Broadway and Pacific Avenue, necessitating the laying of 1500 feet of hose. The danger was soon over when the roof had been deluged with water. Chief Lankford and eleven firemen responded to the call. Mr. Story showed his gratitude for their good work by sending to the firehouse a box of 50 fine cigars, which the boys greatly appreciated.

S. A. DAVIS HOME FROM KANSAS TRIP

S. A. Davis of 225 South Central Avenue arrived at home last night from a few weeks' trip through the oil fields of Eastern Kansas, where he has financial interests. He says developing of the fields is proceeding at high pressure, new wells, some of them gushers, being brought in frequently. Mr. Davis spent a few days in Kansas City, also. He found sentiment on the League of Nations greatly divided, with a majority favoring adoption with reservations. He found many expressions of decided opinions who confessed they had never read it. Prices are much higher than in California, he declares, shoes being almost double what they can be bought for here. Houses in small cities are 40 to 50 per cent higher than is asked in Glendale. Crop prospects are fine in Kansas, he says. The wheat acreage is greatly reduced, owing to continued dry weather at planting time, but that will mean more corn and oats.

SMALL FIRE AT 1006 EAST COLORADO

A quick run was made by the chief's car and one engine this forenoon to 1006 East Colorado, where the one-story house occupied by G. D. Simmons was threatened with destruction. Shingles laid close around a tile chimney were blazing, but they were quickly torn away and the danger was over. No water was thrown.

PIANIST MOVES TO GLENDALE

The Evening News is informed by Mrs. E. W. Kinney of 123 West Elk avenue that Miss Elsa Breidt and her mother have come to Glendale from New York City to live and are located at 118 East Chestnut. Miss Breidt is a wonderful pianist, Mrs. Kinney says, and has played in the New York Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch. She studied in both London and Berlin and was a pupil of Raisen Auer. Glendale musical circles will cordially welcome Miss Breidt.

INCREASE IN SUGAR PRICES

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S ACTION SAID TO BE CAUSE AND CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION ORDERED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Investigation of Attorney General Palmer's handling of the Louisiana sugar situation which is alleged to have resulted in increasing the price from 11 to about 17 cents, was authorized today by the House Rules committee. It will be conducted by the House Judiciary Committee. In asking for the investigation Representative Pinkham of Massachusetts charged that Palmer's action in regard to the Louisiana crop had increased the price of sugar all over the country.

BOOT-LEGGING IN MEXICO

TWO MEXICANS EXECUTED FOR VIOLATING ORDER OF GOVERNOR OF SONORA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
NACO, Ariz., March 3.—Two Mexicans were executed yesterday by a firing squad near Naco, Sonora, for boot-legging, under an order issued by the governor of the State of Sonora forbidding liquor being sold within ten miles of the international border, according to word reaching this side of the line today. His action followed much trouble with bootleggers, particularly since prohibition became effective in the United States.

OBJECT TO PENSIONING KAISER

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS AT BERLIN OPPOSE RESTORATION OF EX-EMPEROR'S FORTUNE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
BERLIN, March 3.—Social democrats of the Prussian assembly bitterly oppose the assembly's plan to restore much of the large wealth of the former Kaiser and to settle certain funds upon him. They compared the Kaiser to an absconding employee of a bankrupt firm who even went so far as to ask for his salary while absent from duty. One speaker said "William is young enough to support himself."

CARDS AND DANCING

FRANKLINS AND WORLEYS ENTERTAIN FOR FRIENDS FROM LAON, ILL.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley entertained at the Franklin home on West Wilson Avenue Tuesday with an evening of cards and dancing in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dorsey and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Allen of Lacon, Ill., who are spending a few months in Southern California. A beautiful floral setting has been provided for the function by the lavish use of acacia bloom, purple iris, wild mustard and sheaves of green wheat.

The early part of the evening was devoted to Five Hundred for which two prizes were given, the first a large bowl filled with marigolds, which was won by Mrs. H. T. Wilkes, the consolation prize being a jar of orange marmalade, won by Mrs. R. Lipscomb.

At the conclusion of the game dainty refreshments were served at small tables in the dining room and while the luncheon was in progress the young daughter of host and hostess, Josephine Franklin, executed two pretty fancy dances, the first a fairy dance, the second an Egyptian dance, both in costume. There was a great deal of visiting and reviewing of old times while the refreshments were being served, and the balance of the evening was given to dancing. The guest list, which was made up of friends who are now or have been residents of Lacon, included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. H. Odell, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lipscomb, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wilkes, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ramp, Miss Caroline Ramp, Mrs. Ethel Gilliland and her little daughter, Mary.

FORGER ARRESTED

An arrest of considerable importance was made yesterday at 1013 E. Harvard by the Glendale police. The man arrested was E. M. Stanley, wanted for various forgeries. He has been in the state only two months and in Glendale one month. He was taken to the county jail and his record is now being looked up.

DISTRICT FEDERATION MEETING

At the opening meeting of the District Federation of Women's Clubs—now in session at Inglewood—speeches were made by state officers and past presidents, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of this city contributing to that portion of the program. Mrs. A. W. Tower, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of this city was present, as was also Dr. Paine-Jackman, who was a delegate from the Woman's Osteopathic Club. Several other representatives of Glendale were there.

Mrs. Jones will be a speaker today at a luncheon and conference given by the Music Department of the Federation. She also attended yesterday a session of the Emeritus Club of which Mrs. Robert Burdett is president, an organization made up of past presidents of the District Federation of which Mrs. Burdett was the first president.

FLOOD CONTROL WORK STANDS TEST

The first real test of the flood control work which has been prosecuted so vigorously for several months past came in Monday night's storm. While the rainfall in Glendale vicinity was not heavy enough to cause any apprehension for Verdugo Wash, conditions were different in other places. Supervisor McClellan took a hasty trip yesterday over the greater part of the district where work has been done, from Long Beach to the mountains, and declared everything was satisfactory. In Long Beach the new channel carried off all the storm waters without any trouble and there was no overflow. There was some damage to roads and fields in the San Gabriel valley and near Van Nuys, but the protection work stood firm in every case. When it has been completed it is thought all danger will be eliminated.

BURGLAR CAUGHT

R. P. Coffey, who described himself as an American of Italian descent, was arrested yesterday in a grain field near Grand View Avenue and San Fernando Road. He was accused of burglarizing the Anderson home at 243 Ivy, and carrying away a gold watch chain and cross, bracelet and string of beads. He admitted the crime, then led the officers to a ditch and showed them where he had thrown the things. All were recovered. The man is in jail awaiting trial.

TRIP TO COACHELLA

FRANK M. ECHOLS MOTORS TO HIS RANCH TO INSPECT ONION CROP

Frank M. Echols of the firm of Roberts & Echols is leaving today for one of his frequent trips to his ranch in the Coachella Valley. He goes to return to her home in the valley his sister who has been here to help out the firm in a little congestion of bookkeeping. His ranch holdings total about forty acres, the cultivated acreage being divided between onions and cotton. The onions grown there are the Bermuda variety which is produced in great perfection in the Coachella valley, making a sweet, firm bulb without fire, which is in great demand. A representative of the S. P. Railroad who has recently visited the district with a view to estimating the cars likely to be needed for the movement of crops, has figured that 1625 cars of onions will be shipped out of the valley this year. At a price of $2 a crate it would mean a return of $1,755,000 for onions alone, and as much more will be realized from cotton of which 3500 acres will be planted.

The Coachella Valley is a little basin surrounded by mountains and irrigated by means of wells, some of which are flowing, others requiring to be pumped. Not very many years ago it was regarded as absolutely waste land. Mr. Echols is growing date trees for an orchard he plans to set in due time.

STRENUOUS BIRTHDAY

NATHAN SEARS LAYS BRICK ALL DAY ON 77TH ANNIVERSARY OF NATAL DAY

Nathan Sears is 77 years old today and he is celebrating the event by putting in 8 hours' work as a bricklayer. He has followed that trade for more than 50 years, working a short time in Denver, Colo., and many years in Central City, Colo. He has lived in Glendale for several years, at 1137 East Elk Avenue, and has done considerable work here. He is now working on Manley M. Johnson's fine hollow tile residence of seven large rooms at 365 West Doran and has laid every brick and piece of tile used in its construction. The house is of one story and basement and the distance around it is 180 feet. Mr. Sears says if ordinary brick, only had been used, more than 30,000 of them would have been required. He has worked on the building just 24 days and now has everything finished but the chimneys.

Mr. Sears lost his wife many years ago but has two sons living, one in Los Angeles and the other in New Mexico. His only daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Tejada, died January 8th in a San Francisco hospital while she was being prepared for an operation.

Mr. Sears is still strong and healthy and feels fit for several more years' work. He attributes his continued vigorous health to outdoor work and clean living.

GLENDALE CITY ELECTION, APRIL 12, 1920

The City of Glendale has a municipal election every two years. This is election year and it will be held on Monday, April 12, only about a month in the future. There are three trustees to be elected at that time. The trustees whose term of office expire are Frank L. Muhleman, R. M. Jackson and Geo. B. Woodberry. It has been given out that Messrs. Woodberry and Jackson will not be candidates for re-election. Just whether Mr. Muhleman will be a candidate for re-election, has not been made public.

J. E. Peters, who four years ago was a candidate for the office of city trustee, is the only gentleman who has made public announcement that he is willing to assist in caring for the city's needs the next four years.

It would, indeed, seem strange to have election day come upon us with only one candidate for the office of trustee when three are to be elected.

This is the opportune time for every citizen to become interested in the qualifications of the men who are willing to be the city's servants for the next term of years.

AT DOOR OF STARVATION

"Ships donated by the United States government will carry the food and supplies to the eleven million suffering Jews in Central Europe as fast as this relief money is available through the Jewish Relief Campaign to be held the week of March 14 in Southern California," was the announcement yesterday of Earle W. Hodges, western director for the Jewish Relief organization.

Of the entire Jewish population of the world, seventeen million in all, the figures given out by Mr. Hodges show that over sixty per cent are now at the door of starvation.

"This money that the American people are now asked to supply will be used to send relief of every kind consisting of clothing, food, farm implements and everything necessary to life to enable these worthy peoples to start anew," said Hodges. "Of this great mass of suffering Jews there are over eight hundred thousand children, some of whom have never even in their young lives tasted milk or any of the foods that are absolutely essential for their development and growth. The drive is not necessarily confined to Jews but is directed to every American who knows the great part that the Jews played in America's participation in the war. Besides liberally giving of their time, their money and their services to the cause of right during the four years of war, the Jews in America furnished 200,000 soldiers for the American army or eighty thousand more than was expected if their participation was based upon their percentage of the population of this war."

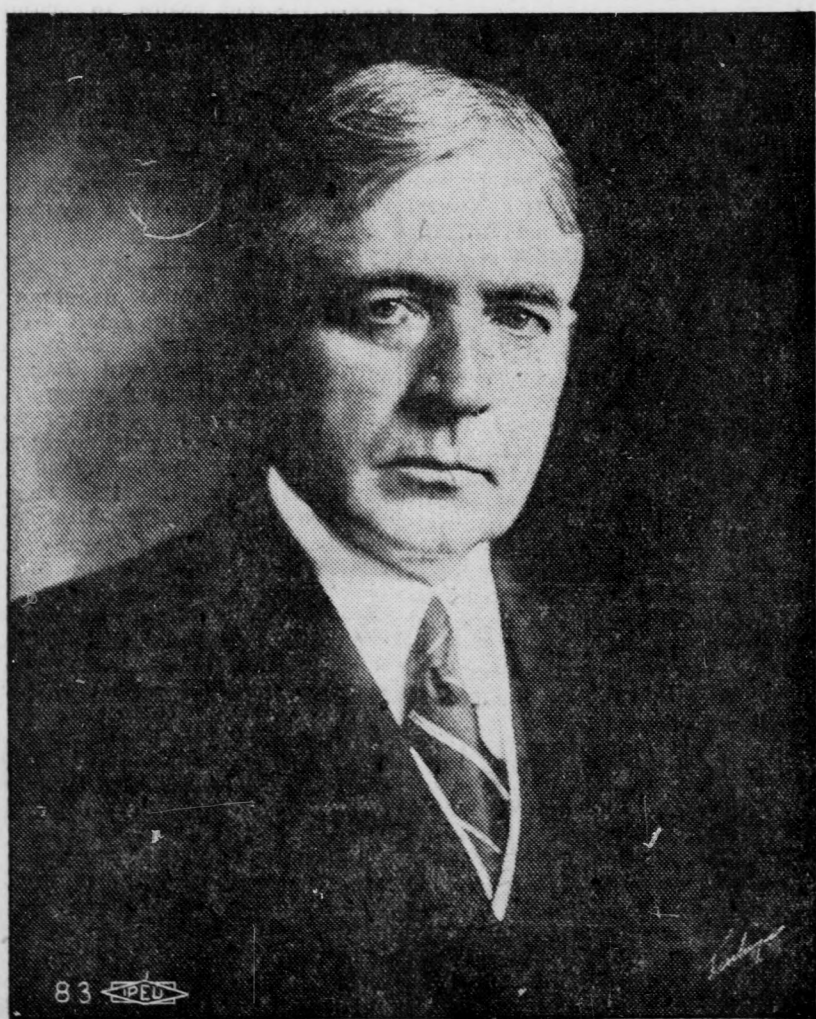

The Jewish Relief Drive was started in 1917 with a proclamation from President Wilson and has been successfully carried on in many of the states. The campaign in Southern California will be opened Sunday, March 14th, and will be ended on the night of March 22nd. Of the thirty-five million, national quota, Southern California is called upon for $500,000.

DEFENDING ALIEN INTERESTS

A few weeks ago Collier's took the Speaker of the Federal House of Representatives to task for having indulged in utterances which gave great offense to the Canadian press and people, and produced, in proof of Mr. Gillett's criminality in this respect, a clipping from a Canadian paper. What, then, was the surprise of "The National Weekly" to receive from the Speaker an utter repudiation of its assertions. The blame was placed squarely where it belonged—on the foreign journal which, in the heartiness of its dislike for the United States, had manufactured the statement out of whole cloth.

This is an instructive incident. It is typical of the present sycophantic tone of our journals, always ready to defend alien interests at the expense of American. Collier's without hesitation, charged Mr. Gillett with an attempt to create a bad feeling toward our neighbors, and ignored the possibility of an attempt, on the part of the aforesaid neighbors, to stir up bad feeling toward us. We heartily dislike this spirit of belittling everything American which is characteristic of the American secular journalism of today. Much as we dislike it, however, we must admit that it is a tribute to the power of Beaverbrook, Northcliffe, et al., and to the potency of constant propaganda.—The Tidings.

THE CHANGING WORLD

Things are moving and we are going somewhere and nobody seems to know where. But the tendencies are already set at work which will bring on a climax in another generation, says Ohio State Journal. In a very few years this old world will be greatly changed and the change will come about through much anxiety and tribulation. The social situation is already beginning to be torn to tatters. Religion, education, industry, trade, society will all go into the melting pot, there to burn out all forms of selfish purpose and to change the social conflict into a common brotherhood. It doesn't look like it now. There is an awful belligerence between capital and labor, rich and poor, religious and wicked, faith and unbelief, and much of it is so intense that it may awaken bloody strife. That is not unlooked for in the age just ahead of us. Already people are beginning to show that they don't care much for one another; and there are grades of feeling and habit that are subject to clash any time. Any one can see it who has sense enough to open his eyes. The papers are full of it; so is society, trade, education and politics. There is nothing that can save us but the grace of God, and that grace will not come when the spirit is not ready for it.

AERIAL FLIVVERS

It has come at last—the aerial flivver—and no back yard is safe.

A monoplane, weighing less than 600 pounds, with a 29-foot wing-spread and a two-cylinder engine capable of lifting nearly 400 pounds, has stood its tests triumphantly. "Quantitv production" will come next.

There will be the put-putting of more engines in the sky, and rattles in accompaniments. Nuts and bolts will drop from the blue, and monkey-wrenches. There will be smash-ups, too, and shattered roofs and branches will take the place of chipped curbstones and demoralized fireplugs. Strange visitors will drop in upon us, and doctors, undertakers and lawyers will thrive. There are, indeed, increasing disadvantages in material civilization.

Perhaps, though, this latest development will stir a delinquent Congress to action in regard to things overhead. The nations overseas have long since laid down the law of the air lanes. Haste is essential. No man can hope to dodge flivvers below, and the things likely to drop from flivvers above, at the same time.

GINGER-SNAPS

The black-haired boy had a mighty contempt for the tow-headed boy.

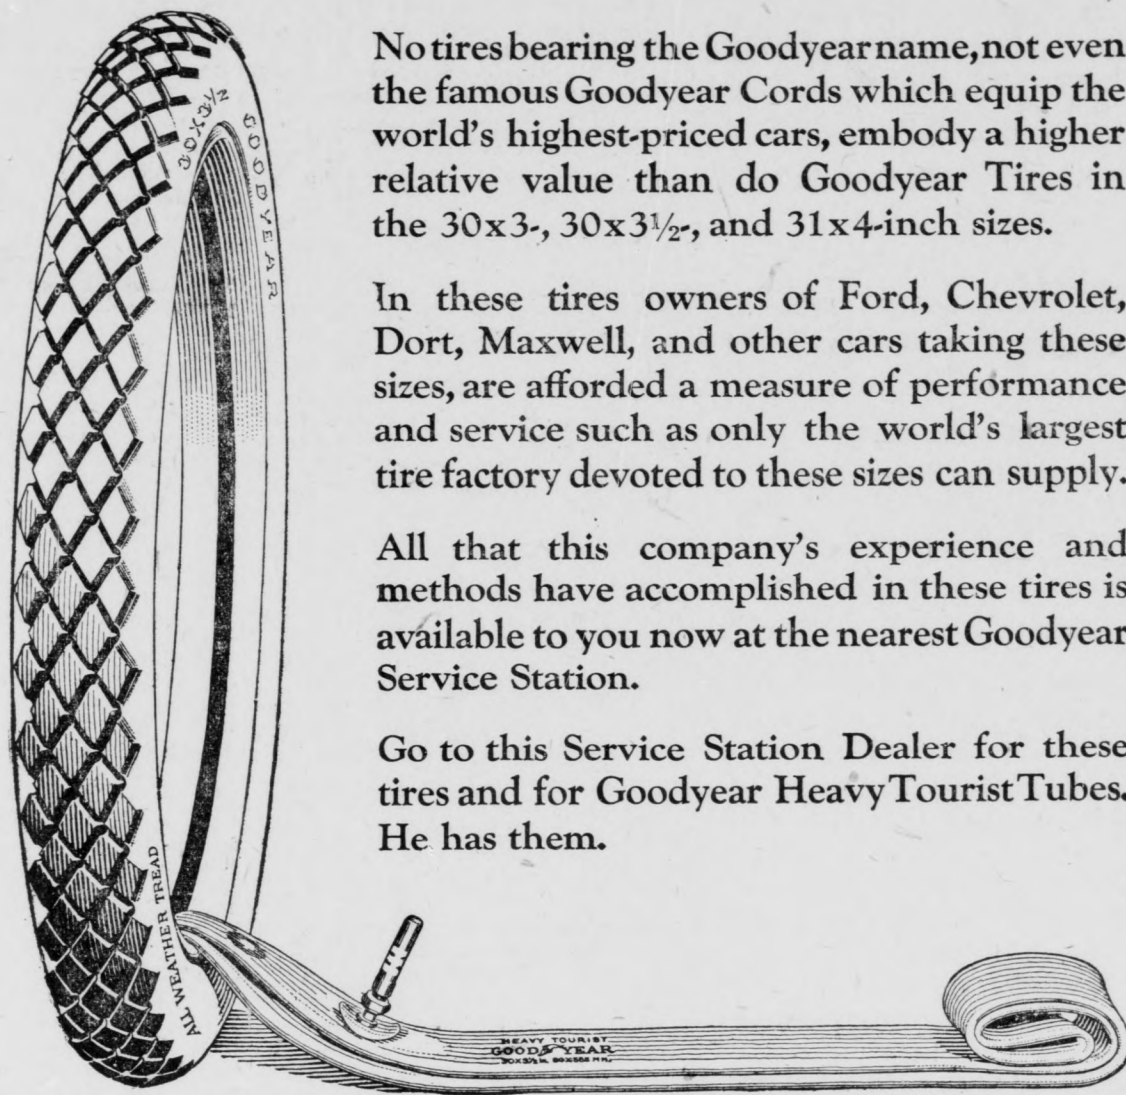

"Huh," he said, "your mother takes in washing."
"Of course she does," the tow-headed satirist retorted. "You didn't think she would leave it hanging out at night unless your father was in jail, did you?"—New York Times.

WAS WILLING TO RISK IT

Little Vivian, aged three, wanted more cake, but was told that it would make her sick. She was silent for a moment and then exclaimed: "Well, mamma, dest div me annuzzer piece of cake, an' send for ze doctor."

At a church conference a speaker began a tirade against the universities and education, expressing thankfulness that he had never been corrupted by contact with a college. After proceeding for a few minutes, the bishop, who was in the chair, interrupted with the question: "Do I understand that Mr. Dobson is thankful for his ignorance?" "You can put it that way, if you like," was the answer. "Well," said the prelate, "all I have to say is that he has much to be thankful for."—London Tit-Bits.

WHAT FARMERS WANT

Two investigations have recently been conducted among farmers for the purpose of finding out what farmers want. One questionnaire went direct from the States Regulations Service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The other was carried out by the Post Office Department's Division of Rural Mails. A brief summary of the results is given in The Survey.

In replies to both inquiries the farmers showed that the labor problem was their biggest concern. Other wants were improved farm practices, marketing, better organization of farmers, financial assistance and good roads. Only one reply mentioned schools.

Thirty-eight per cent of the 2300 farmers gave the county agent as most helpful to them; 31 per cent gave such credit to the agricultural press; while only 3 per cent each named the unofficial farmers' organizations and bulletins and reports.

Ninety per cent favored the work of county agents; four out of every five take foth a daily newspaper and an agricultural paper; one out of every two takes a magazine—usually a woman's magazine; one of every three has membership in the farm bureau, and one out of every four is a member of some other organization.

In replying to the post office questions, the farmers seemed more anxious to register complaints than to suggest constructively what they want. Their grievances followed three main lines—inability to keep either hired help or children on the farm, the high profits taken by the middlemen who merely handle food products and the lack of proper agencies of contact between the farmer and the ultimate consumer.

On the whole the farmers seem to have some real grievances. Also they have shown and continue to show a genuine willingness to do their share in eradicating those grievances. If the rest of the country would meet them half way, both farmer and city dweller would come a good deal nearer to getting what they want in improved economic, industrial and social conditions.—Long Beach Telegram.

There isn't such a thing as neutrality where right and wrong are concerned. Cowardice may counsel taking no side, but the challenge will ring out at every turn, "Who goes there?" and however much we may desire to avoid it, we will be numbered among friends or foes. "He that is not with me is against me," said the Master, and the same division still holds good.

Doc Evans, writing on "How to Keep Well," answered the query of a lady correspondent the other day as to whether drinking water containing live bugs with many legs was injurious or not. The Doc expressed the opinion, which he said he had reached after many years of study and observation, that drinking such water might not hurt the drinker, but it would probably be injurious to the bugs.

THE KING OF THE DESERT

By Miss Corley Echols

There has been much said and written about California, and the greater part has been on the subject of climate—which is more or less of a joke. The next in order of attraction is the scenery, for here are the beauties and grandeur of mountains and ocean. No matter what your tastes are—ancient missions, modern architecture, mountains and canyons, seashore and ocean, rugged bleakness or intensive culture—you can gratify yourself, if you have the price.

But there is one place that is little noted—in prose, poetry, or pictures—a forsaken looking valley, that even the waters of the Gulf of California deserted. It is tucked in between the San Jacinto and San Bernardino ranges, has about ninety thousand acres, a part of the Colorado Desert, with no visible supply of water; a real desert, in an out-of-the-way place. Like every other place in California this valley has a special brand of climate: Being below sea level, it is hot; having no body of water, it is dry. But there are people with a vision; a desire to do something unusual and worth while; strength and patience; some money and a frugal nature, who have caught the lure of the desert, and are transforming it into a veritable garden.

Almost all vegetables and grains grow here abundantly, fortunes are made in cotton, alfalfa, onions, etc. The earliest and best flavored table grapes on the market are grown in the valley, and figs hold a worthy place in horticultural progress. It is not due to these products, however, that the attention of the world will be attracted to the Coachella Valley of California; in fact, they would not attract much attention in the state of California. It is the date palm that will make this valley of national interest; not as belonging to the state in which it is located, but to the United States as a whole.

The seemingly unfavorable features—the long, dry, hot summers—proved to be the magnet which attracted the attention of the Department of Agriculture searching for localities for the culture of dates. Two experimental date gardens, one at Mecca in 1904, and one at Indio in 1907, were established by the Bureau of Plant Industry. A large number of the best varieties of the Old World has been tested in these gardens. Although date culture in the states is in its infancy, it has been sufficiently proven that many of the best varieties can be grown and matured to equal, if not to excel, the grades of the Old World. Also many interesting discoveries have been made in the science of the culture of the date palm and curing the fruits since these little immigrants have been transplanted in our soil, and probably the future will reveal many more possibilities of this world-old tree—the king of the desert.

That this industry is being established in our country, is of interest to us, as the date ranked third in the value of importations of fruits at the beginning of this century; and we only received the poorer grades at that, the choice dates being sold to European markets.

The history and culture of the date palm are unique. It was one of the first plants to be cultivated, and has been grown for at least 4000 years along the Euphrates and Tigris rivers. Little is known of its origin, but tradition leads us to believe it to be a native of some of the ravines bordering the deserts of Northern Africa or Arabia. It was first cultivated by the Assyrians, afterwards by the Egyptians, and very early in its culture became almost a national industry with the Arabs. For centuries the transportation of dates has been the chief motive for the formation of the great caravan routes which run in every direction through the deserts in Africa and Arabia.

The clay tablets, monuments, and wall sculptures of the ancient Assyrians give full descriptions of the date in detail, its culture, pollination of the flowers, and even serving the fruit at the tables of the wealthy. Another interesting fact is that the Egyptian hieroglyphic which signifies a month represented a leaf of the date palm, based on an ancient tradition that the palm produced one leaf a month. There is, of course, no such fixed interval, but it usually produces from twelve to twenty leaves in a year.

The date is the most important food plant of the deserts of the Old World, and many portions of Arabia and Sahara would not be habitable were it not for this tree. Besides yielding a delicious fruit of great food value, it furnishes the only timber available in many regions for building purposes. Other fruit trees which could not exist in the direct rays of the sun are cultivated under the partial shade of the leaves of the date palm.

The date tree has but a single bud at the top of the trunk, and if this bud be destroyed the tree usually dies. Only two methods of propagation are known; by seeds or by offshoots. The palms propagated from seed do not bear the same variety of fruit as that from which the seed was planted. The offshoot is a bud in the axil of the leaf, being a direct product of the growing stem, and in variety the same as the parent plant.

A palm under favorable conditions should increase itself tenfold by its offshoots, and many specimens bear a greater number. Generally young palms begin to produce offshoots in the third year, and continue to produce them up to the tenth or twelfth year. The shoots grow out from the base of the tree, and are severed with special tools, seasoned from ten to fifteen days, and then planted in a propagating frame for rooting. This usually takes a year, although some shoots will not start a new growth for three or four years.

It is quite usual for the date to begin bearing fruit the third year after being set out in orchard form, but at the present time the production of offshoots to increase acreages is more desired, so they are not allowed to mature but a small amount of fruit until seven or eight years old. Twelve to fifteen year old palms will produce 400 pounds and over of fruit if properly fertilized and irrigated, and increase in value every year up to the century mark at least. All of the dates on a bunch do not ripen at the same time, hence they have to be gone over several times during the fruiting season—which is no little task when the palm reaches a great height. The human race is not the only date fancier, everything with a sense of taste is tempted to partake of the fruit, so care and ingenuity are necessary to protect the bunches until ripened.

Artificial pollination of the fruit clusters is necessary to produce perfectly developed dates. The sex of the tree is ascertained by the blossoms produced. Two male trees are sufficient for an acre, or fifty, female trees. The female palm blossoms from February to June; March and April are the months in which nearly all the spathe open, and at this time a sprig from the male trees should be fastened at the top of the fruit cluster. The male blossoms may be placed in an open bag, as dry pollen can be kept for future use.

Some varieties of dates begin to ripen their fruit as early as June, making a continuous harvest up to the latter part of December. The seedling dates are usually a soft date, also the Persians, and are mostly used for immediate consumption, or ground up and made into confections. The Deglet Noor, a variety imported from Algeria and Tunisia, is of the semi-dry type, contains a high percentage of sugar, and will keep almost indefinitely.

Great credit is due the Department of Agriculture and the pioneers of the date industry for their part in reclaiming a worthless desert, and transforming it into a productive valley and national asset. The obstacles, hardships, and privations that have been endured even up to the present by those who have put in their time, energy, and money cannot be estimated.

But no amount of science, labor, or investment would have accomplished anything had it not been for the water which was found could be procured by the boring of wells, from 300 to 1000 feet, and over. Some have flowing water, others have to resort to pumping to lift the water, and others have to cap the flow to restrain its force. This is according to the elevation of the land.

At the head of the valley stand four mountains: San Geronimo, 12,800 feet high, San Bernardino, near 12,500, San Jacinto, 10,800, and Santa Rosa, near 9,000 feet. For several months in the year the snow falls on these gigantic gate posts which, melting, forms streams dashing downward to the valley. There it sinks in the sand beds, and flows into an underground river.

The rocky bed under the valley, which served once to hold the waters of the Gulf of California, has been filled in with silt, sand, and debris washed down by the Colorado River from the degradation of the plateaus of Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, and Arizona, and forms a vast reservoir for the inflow of the melted snow from the mountains. This combination—the earth above, with the forceful head of the mountain streams—creates a marvelous artesian basin, assuring an abundance of water as long as there is snow and warmth to melt it.

This is only a preface to the history of date culture in this country; only a hint of what the future of this valley may be, but it marks the passing of an unknown desert, and the initiation of a world-old science.

ident he asked the brakeman to cut the train. The brakeman told him he couldn't do it because he had no air. He thought the auto was going at a speed of about 8 to 10 miles an hour, and the train at 30 to 35 miles an hour. As to the possible vision he testified that if standing on the track at that point he could have seen a distance up the track close to three-quarters of a mile and that the "increase in the approach" to the track at that point is very gradual.

The engineer testified that he whistled for the crossing at the whistling post, a distance of about 1300 feet from the crossing, that "the call was two long and two short," that the next thing he was conscious of was "the holler of the fireman" to "hold up" which, he explained, usually means to put on the emergency brake, which he did, that he had no knowledge of the approaching auto until the fireman called to him; that the auto was only two or three car lengths away when he heard the fireman's call, and that he did not see the auto until the pilot struck it; that the train ran by the point of the accident about 23 car lengths before it was stopped; that the accident broke the air line and put it out of commission; that he knew something had happened but that his first attention was given to getting his equipment in condition to get his train out of the way; that the automatic engine bell had been ringing ever since the train left Burbank. He described the injuries sustained by the equipment, that in addition to the breaking of the air line the oil drain pipe on the side of the tank was broken and had to be plugged with a stick; that the pilot was bent and under the engine and that the engine had to be cut off and moved ahead in order to get the pilot away.

Fireman McKenzie confirmed the testimony of the engineer, saying if he had been looking toward the crossing on the side where the autos were standing he might have seen the autos three-quarters of a mile away, but that as a matter of fact he did not see the machine that was struck until within about 200 feet of it, when he gave the alarm to the engineer.

J. D. Huddle, the brakeman, testified to being at his post of duty on top of the head car next to the locomotive and of watching with interest the two automobiles filled with movie actors as the train approached the crossing with no thought that they would attempt to cross; that even after he saw the machine turn toward the crossing he expected it to pull up and when he discovered it was coming on he gave an involuntary yell of warning, which was of course of no avail; that he was one of the first to render assistance to the victims of the wreck and when asked to cut the train in two discovered that the air line was broken and the engine dead. He confirmed the testimony of the engineer in regard to the blowing of the whistle and the ringing of the automatic bell. He stated that he examined the wrecked automobile and found "the machine was in second and the emergency brake was jammed," adding, "it looked to me as though the driver had tried to stop and then tried to go ahead. I think he got confused and threw his brakes on." Huddle also stated that he called the attention of Mr. Rudell of the County Tax Office, who was present, to the condition of the machine as regards the jammed brakes.

Friends of the dead movie actor who were present at the hearing stated that he was a great favorite with members of the company; that he was about thirty-two years old, that he was very quiet and not inclined to talk about himself, and that beyond the fact that he was born in Pennsylvania nothing in regard to his antecedents was known to his associates. His mates declared he was the champion rope thrower of the country and he was much in request for cowboy stunts. Bill Donovan, the driver, it was stated, has been removed from the hospital to his home, and Tom Morgan has been transferred to the Southern Pacific Hospital on Crocker Street.

Dr. Paine-Jackman of North Jackson Street is today welcoming to California and to her own home Mrs. Hannah Everett of Galesburg, Ill., who has come to Glendale to be a companion for Mrs. Paine, the mother of Dr. Jackman. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chain, of York, Neb., cousins of Dr. Jackman, who are spending the winter in California, have been guests in her home recently.

H. S. Lincoln and wife, who came to Glendale from Wichita, Kas., with a view to locating, are now settled in their new home recently purchased at 357 Myrtle. They first bought on North Kenwood but had such an advantageous offer for property that they sold it ten days later. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln are very much in love with Glendale and hope to spend the rest of their days here. They have as guests now a brother-in-law, A. T. McCarger, and wife, of Seattle. Mr. McCarger was in the newspaper business for many years.

Rev. C. A. Cole was in Los Angeles yesterday assisting his father, B. O. Cole, in arranging for the purchase of a home. While there he met Mr. Scarborough, who has large property interests in Los Angeles and Glendale; he had just lost his father, who had been an invalid 55 years. Mr. Scarborough had had the care of his father since the death of his mother, which occurred when he was 15 years old. At that time the father was not expected to live many months, and his death was predicted many times during the long years of invalidism which followed. He was in his ninety-first year when he died.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fryer of 1424 North Pacific avenue had a rather hair-raising experience when they undertook to drive to Pomona last Sunday with Mrs. Fryer at the wheel. They got a short distance beyond the Annandale Club House and struck a piece of road that was just like oil. After the machine had whirled completely around twice, and this in spite of the fact that they were running slowly and carefully, their courage failed and they came home.

LITERARY SECTION

There was an excellent but not a full attendance of members of the Literary Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Ayars.

Spain was the topic of the day and a fine paper reviewing its art, literature and customs was read by Mrs. George Adams. As two members who were to have contributed to the program were absent, Mrs. Hayward, acting curator, read from Frederick O'Brien's "White Shadows in the South Seas," a book much discussed at the present time and of special interest because the author is a Glendanian. The reading proved of intense interest and the afternoon a very pleasant and profitable one for all present. It was announced that at the next meeting the curator, Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, would probably be well enough to be present.

Witnesses of the marriage were the mother of the groom, Mrs. Margaret Young of 1218 South Maryland Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderson, and Mrs. C. R. Norton. The beautiful ring ceremony was used, and Mr. Norton bestowed his blessing with special fervor. Following the ceremony the young people left for Los Angeles. ## A USEFUL HERITAGE

Folks who can look back into the early 70's without suffering from the astigmatism of too distant reminiscence—you have to be at least fifty to do it—will tell you of the multiplicity of blue service overcoats that used to appear annually as soon as winter bared its tooth. They were particularly affected by hackmen, who permitted the capes to stream behind and trail splashes of light blue, red or yellow for the edification of the pedestrian populace. Thousands of models of those overcoats are still in existence, for one of them generally drapes the bronze figure at parade rest atop the Soldier's Monument in the center of the village green.

Moth and rust have done their bit; the taxi has supplanted the coach; the hackmen have gone the way of all flesh. A new era dawned, a new war broke, a new peace blessed the earth (in a manner of speaking) and a new crop of Army overcoats, O. D. and not blue, was demobilized at a propitious moment.

The physically fit American manhood of this winter of 1919-1920 may be divided into four groups: (a) hardy souls who do not wear overcoats; (b) fortunate souls who have overcoats left over from 1917; (c) J. P. Morgan, Charles M. Schwab and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and (d) those who still wear the government issue.

How many persons are comprised in the last category there is no means of telling. Some of the garments are camouflaged under blue dye, flossy non-regulation belts, fur or near-fur collars. Most of them, however—and their number is hundreds of thousands—retain unaltered and undisguised the cut, shade and fit which the Quartermaster Corps gave them. Even the Old Abe, with his claws full of arrows and olive branches and his beak hard-a-star-board, still beams dully forth from their fronts. And, overcoats costing what overcoats do, long may he beam!—The Home Sector (Successor of The Stars and Stripes).

CHILD CRIME ON INCREASE

VIENNA, March 3.—One hundred thousand school children in Vienna are underfed and diseased as a result of food shortage, lack of fuel, and inadequate hospital facilities, according to a survey recently made here by the American Red Cross.

Crime among the child population is on the increase, hunger sometimes driving little boys to ghastly attempts at murder. The juvenile court is being overwhelmed with the daily addition of fresh cases of child criminality.

Nine cars of milk have been set aside for the feeding of hungry children and the distribution has already begun.

Business activity in Vienna has almost ceased. During the shopping hours, the great Ring streets near the Opera are deserted, as compared with their appearance during the war or even during the early months after the armistice.

Advertising in the newspapers by business houses has dwindled down to insignificant proportions. To take one instance, Vienna's leading paper recently carried only 27 advertisements, 17 of which were offers to buy jewelry, seven of skin disease specialists, one offer to buy old bottles, and two offering face powders for sale.

CHINESE WOMEN

THEIR WONDERFUL DEVELOPMENT DESCRIBED AT WOMEN'S OSTEOPATHIC CLUB

Dr. Paine-Packman of this city on Tuesday evening attended the banquet given by the Woman's Osteopathic Club at the Union League.

The chief speaker of the evening, Mrs. Julia Huggins, of Pasadena, reported her experiences in China and the condition of Chinese women. "China," said said, "is enveloped in mystery and her reserve power is lying dormant." The Chinese people she characterized as peaceful but ignorant. The fact that there is no caste there as in India makes for more hopeful conditions for Chinese women, and the climatic conditions are better, she said. The religion of the country is not so degrading, she declared, because Confucianism is the dominant faith and that is really a worthy philosophy rather than a religion.

She affirmed that the Chinese men are excellent mechanics and quoted a prediction that there would soon be no place in the world for the white mechanic because of the superior natural ability of the Chinese in this line.

The Chinese, she said, are filled with fear and that is the reason they have not built railroads. They are afraid of disturbing the demons under ground. To convey an idea of what China is like she asked her audience to picture what the United States would be with its 100 millions of population if we were to take out all of its hospitals except one or two, fill its sewers, close its public schools and all medical schools except one, take away its health boards, inoculate this country with vile diseases, even leprosy, then put in place of our 100 million people four hundred million souls, and we would have some idea of what China is.

Now that missionaries have had access to Chinese women and have had opportunity to take them into schools, even medical schools and educate them, Mrs. Huggins says they are doing wonderful work, one woman surgeon she mentioned performing a larger number of surgical operations per day than the average surgeon in this country. The Chinese women are very capable when trained, she declared.

DINNER PARTY OF STARS

Sport "fans," of whom there are many in Glendale, would have enjoyed looking in upon a recent dinner party at the ranch home of Jas. J. Jeffries, ex-heavyweight ring champion, near Burbank. Among the guests were Jack Kipper and wife of Glendale, Barney Oldfield and wife of Los Angeles, Orvie Overall and wife of Visalia, Frank Chance and wife of Glendora, and Mrs. Mildred Wolgast of Michigan. Oldfield has been famous for years as an auto racer and Kipper was his business partner; Chance and Overall have made great names in baseball as manager and pitcher, most of their experience having been with the Chicago White Sox; Mrs. Wolgast is the mother of "Ad" Wolgast, a well known boxer.

A clergyman was arguing with a friend of his on the desirability of attending church. At last he put the question squarely: "What is your personal reason for not attending?" Returning the smile, the clergyman said, "Do not let that keep you away—there is always room for one more." —T. P.'s Weekly.

GETTING YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Very often lack of attention keeps us from getting our money's worth. ### THIS THE MOMENT OF MOMENTS TO GAIN SPIRITUAL UNITY

By DR. JOHN R. MOTT.

DR. JOHN R. MOTT,
Chairman Executive Committee Interchurch World Movement.

This is the moment of moments for us to find our unity, our spiritual solidarity, without sacrificing our diversity and that which is most distinctive to each of our communions and which, by the way, is the choicest possession we have.

The reason why we of each denomination most value that which is distinctive to us is not simply because it is ours, but because we honestly believe it is the truth. It is our choicest possession. Without sacrificing our distinctiveness we want to realize our unity and solidarity as we gather 'round the figure of our Lord with open minds, responsive hearts and, I would say, hair-trigger wills—by that I mean wills that are eager to leap into action when we see a clear path.

MINISTERS COST LESS THAN AUTOS

World Survey Figures Reveal
How Badly United States Is Paying Its Pastors.

What are the chances of a young man who intends to be a lawyer of making $3000 a year? What are the doctor's chances? What of the minister or the manufacturer?

The lawyer has exactly one chance in five. The doctor's chances are one in seven. It is ten to one against the manufacturer. The modern minister, however, who formerly ranked with the doctor and lawyer as a member of the "learned professions," has fallen hopelessly behind. He is a 100 to 1 shot.

These figures are part of a mass of astonishing facts brought to light by the world survey being made by the Interchurch World Movement and whose sources of information are such that many economists and statisticians are availing themselves of the results. This survey puts America's minister at the bottom of the ladder of the nation's income receivers—and with responsibilities which equal those of any captain of industry.

A worker in a silk mill, a laborer in a rubber plant, a paper maker, a worker in a shoe factory—all are getting higher average wages, the survey shows, than does America's minister, city or country. Nor does the city man receive the luxurious salary that many persons, including many country parsons, believe he does. Not four ministers in a thousand, according to the survey, receive $5000 a year. In no instance, whatever the denomination, does a majority receive $1000.

Are you a Congregationalist? In 2783 churches the yearly pay to your ministers has been less than $1000. Are you a Presbyterian? You are then on the less than $1000 list with 6415 ministers. In the event that you are a Methodist the charge is that 4719 pastors are trying to exist on the $20 a week that you pay them. Episcopalians do a little better, yet half of their rectors receive less than the $1500 a year which government economists regard as the minimum on which a family can be decently maintained.

The initial cost of the cheapest "flivver" on the market is less than $600, but a very good, conscientious pastor, it is shown, can be hired for a year for that sum.

Ministers in the South are preaching to fifty or more cotton pickers who individually are paid more for picking cotton than their entire neighborhood pays to the preacher in a year.

One of the aims of the present co-operation of the world's Protestant denominations is to end this disgrace of the underpaid minister. With universities, business houses and municipalities daily taking action to provide for the comfort of their workers, the church is to keep pace with the times, and to arrange not only for adequate pay for its workers, but to provide pensions for those no longer able to work.

It is to move the public to prevent unfavorable comparison of pastors and puddlers. Until then, as for a puddler swapping jobs with a pastor drawing an "ordinary" salary—never! The lowest salary paid to pastors is lower than any wages paid in the entire steel industry.

Little Maid in the "Moon Door" Symbol of the Hope of New China

Ginling College, at Nanking, is Girls' School in Five Provinces With Population of 111,000,000—Interchurch World Movement to Aid Institution.

The way to all things at Ginling lies through the moon door. And through the moon door on the way to wisdom pass and repass, every day, the 70 Chinese maidens of the "gung-gwan." The moon door at Ginling is round as the full moon whence it has its name. And the Chinese maiden, as she steps over its high sill, may spread wide her arms and still not touch its rim with the tips of her fingers.

Some times across the court yard is another moon door, and beyond it, like a smaller concentric circle, still another, leading on through that Chinese puzzle of a house, the "gung-gwan," or official residence at Nanking, China, which is now the home of Ginling College for Chinese girls—one of the three women's colleges in all China.

The moon door is but a single feature of the old place. Once inside the high stone walls that enclose it one is lost in a maze of courts and galleries and covered passages and isolated rooms.

The whole is China, old China and new. The moon door and the architecture as a whole lend the dignity and the greatness of old China. But the laboratories and dormitories, libraries and studies made from the old rooms of state and ceremony are modern, just as the spirit of the Chinese girls who use them is modern; just as the force of America is behind it all, represented by the five American missionary organizations and the American Smith College—which maintain Ginling, is modern.

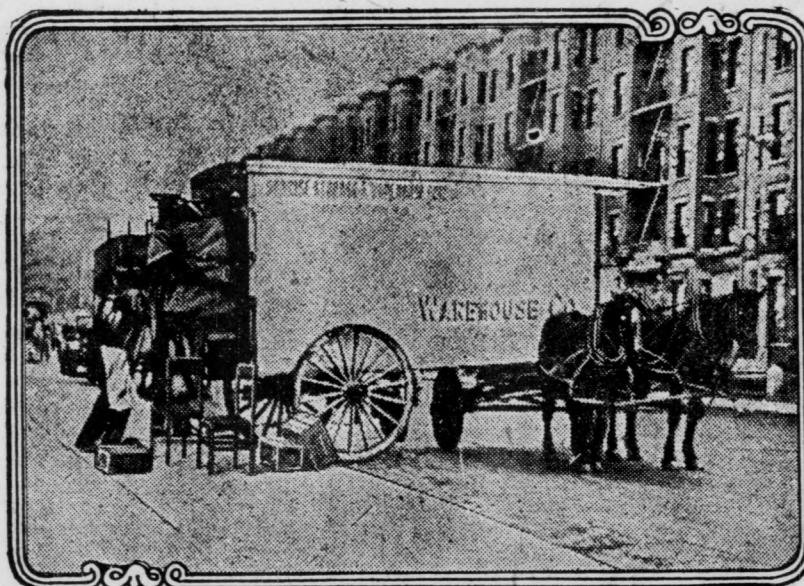

One pushes ajar the halves of a moon door, latticed over paper in plum blossom and honeycomb design, and enters a chemical laboratory set up in a room with twenty windows, each framed in dragon tracery. And from the flagstones of the laboratory floor, often is scraped fungi and mould for use under the microscope.

These are typical contrasts of Ginling College, revealed through the survey of the Chinese field now being made by the Interchurch World Movement, which seeks to promote the closer co-operation of Protestant Churches of America in attaining their world aims.

Ginling College, the survey shows, is at the heart of five Chinese provinces with a total population of 110,000,000—and is the only woman's college in that great area. Yet its capacity to receive young Chinese girls is limited by the capacity of the old "gung-gwan," rented since the beginning of the institution, four years ago.

Fund of $500,000. Ginling owns thirty-seven acres of land on the hills beside the Yangtze river. In the Interchurch World Movement survey of China, there is a budget item of $500,000. It is there to show the churches of America how they can place upon that land on the hill the library, administration building, recitation buildings, chapel—all that are needed for a modern college. Unless the fund is available by 1921, many young women of China seeking college education must be denied admission to Ginling, because the old "gung-gwan" is too small.

City Folks Becoming Wanderers Due to Increasing Cost of Homes

More Than 54 Per Cent of Nation's Population Are Paying Rent, Interchurch Survey Shows—New York City Leads Country, With 97 in Every 100 in Manhattan Giving Monthly Tribute to Landlord.

The housing problem in many American cities brings with it a church problem.

The high percentage of rented homes—88 per cent of all residences in New York, for example, and 97 per cent in the borough of Manhattan—means many migrant families. And investigation of the Interchurch World Movement show that too often the family moving out of the territory of its church fails to transfer its membership to another congregation in the new neighborhood.

The church letter, like the family cat, is left behind. If the church had no more lives than a cat, say Interchurch workers, it would have been dead long ago, for just as the family "loses" its cat, so the church loses families.

The family church is becoming a rarity in the cities. One minister in a pastorate of 13 years noted 3000 changes in his congregation.

Through its city survey, designed to provide a program for closer cooperation between Protestant churches, the Interchurch Movement is seeking, among other things, to find means whereby migrant families shall not be lost to their respective denominations.

The present generation of the city, the survey reveals, is a generation of wanderers because of the growing number of rented homes and the rising rents. As a result, the family church is becoming an urban rarity. The family in which the father is a founder of the Church he attends, married to a member of the congregation, and with children baptized by the family minister, is more and more seldom found, the survey workers report.

Too often the increase in rent has sent the family to another neighborhood. One purpose of the Interchurch World Movement survey of the cities is to determine how, through that efficient cooperation of churches which is the major aim of the movement, migrant families may not be lost to the membership of their respective denominations.

An Assured World Success.

"When such a vast multitude of people come together earnestly and prayerfully, there must be developed an outpouring of spiritual power such as this land has never before known. If the Interchurch World Movement is complete in its co-operation, if the individual constituents are consecrated and in earnest, and the leadership is able, there is no limit under God in what may be accomplished in the establishment of His Kingdom on earth."—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

"Keep together! Keep together!" shouted a commanding officer overseas. "No man alone can take a trench! I say: Keep together! Keep together, men of God! No church alone can take a world!"—G. Sherwood Eddy.

NOT BOTHERED BY WORRY

Representative Carter of Oklahoma was telling some of his colleagues in the cloakroom of the house the other day a story of a negro in his state who, under persuasion perhaps, had forsaken the Republican party and cast his fortunes with the Democrats, says the Washington Post. He gained a local reputation and soon his former associates in the old organization began to talk among themselves. Finally they determined to get the deserter back, if possible. A committee went to the recalcitrant and urged him to come back, but the Democrat was stubborn.

"Well, if you don't give up the Democrats we're goin' to tie your hands and feet, put a gag in your mouth and take you down to the old cave you know about and drop you in," they threatened.

The threat had its effect to the extent that in confidence the deserter told a white friend, a lawyer, of what he had been told.

"Don't pay any attention to them," advised the lawyer. "They wouldn't attempt anything like that."

But the negro wasn't satisfied. He continued talking about what his brethren were going to do to him.

"If they were to do anything like that," said the lawyer, "they would be arrested, and if you should be found dead they would be hanged."

"That's all right," said the negro, "but it wouldn't do me no good to have 'em hanging if I was dead."

"I knew there had been something wrong with you," said the lawyer. "I have seen you brooding for some time, and if you don't stop it the first thing you know you will go out and commit suicide over your troubles."

"Naw, indeed," said the negro, "taint no chance of dat! Whenever I gits to worryin' 'bout mah troubles I jes' natchilly goes to sleep."

Doctor—Madam, I shall have to paint your husband's throat with nitrate of silver. Profiteer's Wife—Please use nitrate of gold, doctor. The expense is quite immaterial.—London Opinion.

When God so respects our freedom of will that he never forces our choice, we should so respect it ourselves as neither to weaken it, debase it, nor to sell it into bondage to injurious habits or evil companions. If ever our lives are worth while, it must be because we make them so.

WANTED TO THANK DONORS

Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson writes in the Woman's Home Companion:

"As for knitted garments, I wish you could have been with me one day at a certain naval base near New York, when the crew of a ship which had been accidentally sunk in our very harbor entered the chaplain's office to receive their fresh supply of knitted garments. They had all lost their clothing, barely escaping with their lives.

"The boys lined up like the well-trained sailors they were, tucked their supplies under their arms and marched out again, headed by an officer. But the moment they broke ranks outside headquarters each boy became absorbed in his own particular package of knitted garments and comfort bag, turning the sweaters, the helmets, the wristlets and even the bags inside out, poking inquiring fingers into every corner.

"What are they looking for—sweaters? I asked the young officer at my elbow.

"Dear, no," said my guide with a laugh. "Letters, notes, the addresses of the lady who knitted the garment or filled the bag. They want to write back and say thank you."

"After watching their frenzied search for notes and addresses, nothing can ever make me believe that the boys do not appreciate such gifts."

"I hope," said one woman to another, "that you never nag your husband."

"Only when he's beating the rugs," was the reply. "When he is thoroughly irritated he makes a much better job of it."

Flattery is a sort of moral peroxide—it turns many a woman's head.—Boston Transcript.

Edward P. Mitchell, editor of the New York Sun, in an address showing the debt of our present-day language to the tongue of the Greeks and the Romans, gave the following schoolboy definitions: Ammonia, the food of the gods; congregate, to all wrinkle up; interloper, one who runs away to get married; demagogue, a vessel containing beer and other liquids.
